

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0044] Presented herein is a scheme for reducing the likelihood of erroneous DQS signals. Logic is incorporated proximate to a memory controller and receives a signal indicating a read request and a DQS signal from a memory module. The logic transmits a signal indicating the presence of data, based on the timing relationship between the DQS signals and signal indicating read requests.